KMC's POZZOLAN PROJECT: THE ECONOMIC, SOCIAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS

In this issue we address one of the most common and justifiable questions about our project – “What are the benefits?” From our perspective the answers are many, and they are about much more than just dollars and cents.

Economic Benefits:

- Starting employment of 5 to 10 positions growing up to 25 when the project reaches full production;
- Competitive wages and salaries with in Yavapai County;
- Fuel purchases of 50,000 to 500,000 gallons per year, adding to the state's Highway User Revenue Fund through fuel taxes;
- Sales tax base from the purchase of equipment, parts, supplies, and services;
- Property taxes on the private land held by KMC and additional revenue opportunities through State Transaction Privilege Tax
- KMC's commitment to explore opportunities to give back to the communities through education and future employment.
- KMC's commitment to work with local business, government and community leaders to be a part of planning for other future community economic development and infrastructure.

Social Benefits:

- Explore opportunities to work with local communities and partner with KMC to find the best ways to enhance schools, local fire departments, and local businesses.
- Explore options for creative post-reclamation uses of the land like recreation or wildlife habitat support.

Environmental Benefits:

- Extending dwindling fly ash supplies and displacing the production of millions of tons of Portland cement, thereby displacing millions of tons of CO₂.
- Producing significantly more durable concrete, extending its life and reducing the energy-intensive process of removing and replacing the world's most widely used building material.

To those who have supported us, we thank you and pledge to keep earning that support. To those less certain, we ask that you continue to talk with us, work with us and help us deliver on our commitment to be a truly great neighbor. We look forward to seeing you at our first annual Community Open House and Barbeque on February 10th!
